M4W2020

April 2020

O kampanji M4W2020

Žene su često manje vidljivije u vijestima i mnoge njihove priče ostaju neizgovorene. Većina medija i dalje prikazuje žene u stereotipnim ulogama. Čim novinari traže stručno mišljenje, žene doslovno nema na ekranu. Free Press Unlimited je pokrenuo kampanju "Mediji za žene" (Media4Women - M4W) sa kojom želi stvoriti međunarodni pokret (medijskih) organizacija i pojedinaca koji ističu važnost ravnopravnosti spolova u medijima i kako bi se uspostavio inkluzivniji i ravnopravniji prikaz žena u medijskim sadržajima.

Cilj kampanje

1. Aktivirati i angažovati trenutne i potencijalne ciljne grupe kako bi se stvorio međunarodni pokret koji će uspostaviti inkluzivniji i raznolikiji prikaz žena u medijima.

2. Staviti rodnu ravnopravnost putem medija na lokalni i međunarodni program.

3. Pozicionirati pokret M4W (Free Press Unlimited i njegove partnerske organizacije) kao globalnu mrežu s ekspertizom i platformama za uspostavu inkluzivnijeg i raznovrsnijeg prikaza žena u medijima.

Uloga Udruženja BH novinari

Kao partnerska organizacija Free Press Unlimited, Udruženje BH novinari (BHN) se pridružilo kampanji putem Mreže novinarki u BiH sa nizom aktivnosti, koje su trajale od 5. marta do 5. aprila.

U sklopu M4W kampanje, BH novinari su:

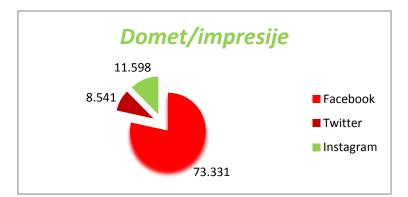

- Publikovali saopštenje<sup>1</sup> na početku Kampanje u kojem su pozvali medije u BiH da podrže kampanju producirajući medijske sadržaje koji ni na koji način neće podržavati stereotipe, mizoginiju i predrasude o ženama. Ovo saopštenje je objavljeno u više od 12 medija.
- Kreirali i publikovali 29 poruka novinara/ki, urednika/ca, profesora/ica novinarstva, aktivista nevladinih organizacija iz svih dijelova BiH sa ciljem podizanja javne svijesti medijskih profesionalaca o potrebi ravnopravnijeg predstavljanja žena u medijskim sadržajima; sve poruke su objavljene na BHN Facebook stranici, te na Twitter i Instagram nalogu.
- Na tri panel diskusije<sup>2</sup>, predstavnici BH novinara su predstavili kampanju i govorili o važnosti jednakog predstavljanja žena u medijima i kroz medijske sadržaje.

Gledajuči, slušajuči, čitajuči naše medije, odmah se uoči da je društvo dominantno muško. To često znači: patrijarhalno i agresivno. I homofobno, naravno. Ženski duh u najvećem broju situacija daje potrebnu dimenziju humanosti i donosi drukčiji pogled. Nekad je samo jedan pogled žene dovoljan da se promijeni dikurs, a nekada - da se promijeni i život! Češće se trebamo sjetiti da na ulaznim i izlaznim vratima ovog svijeta stoji žena.

> Ahmed Burić književnik

Ahmed Buric is writer and journalist from Sarajevo. He said: "Looking, listening, reading our media, it is immediately noticeable that society is predominantly male. This often means: patriarchal and aggressive. And homophobic, of course. In most situations, the female spirit gives the necessary dimension of humanity and brings a different perspective. Sometimes just one look at a woman is enough to change the discourse, and sometimes - to change her life! More often than not, we need to remember that there is a woman at the front and exit of this world."

Aleksandar Zolja is an activist of Helsinki Citizens' Assembly organization from Banjaluka. His message is: "The media is powerful tool and should be used to change the world. Not only in the affirmation of women and gender equality, but in the promotion of marginalized and vulnerable groups in general, and in the protection of the human rights of every citizen. By choosing interviewees, topics and reporting methods, we are giving ideal to new generations."

Aleksandar Žolja Helsinški parlament građana Banjaluka Mediji su moćni i treba to da iskoriste da mijenjuju svijet. Ne samo u afirmaciji žena i rodne ravnopravnosti, nego u promociji marginalizovanih i ranjivih grupa uopšte, odnosno u zaštiti ljudskih prava svakog građanina. Izborom sagovornica, tema i načina izvještavanja, budućim generacijama dajemo nove uzore!

"Mediji mogu doprinijeti da ženska snaga, ženske vrijednosti i kapaciteti budu zabilježeni na pravi način. Kao novinarka, svakodnevno i srčano doprinosim tome. Podržavam, također, solidarnost među ženama jer tako jača naša zajednička borba do konačne ravnopravnosti svih žena i svih djevojčica, koje su sad tu, ali i onih koje će nam doći."

Alma Dautbegović Voloder novinarka N1 Alma Dautbegovic-Voloder is journalists of N1 Bosnia and Herzegovina from Sarajevo. She said: "The media can contribute to women's strength, women's values and capacities being captured in the right way. As a journalist, I contribute daily and wholeheartedly to this. I also support solidarity among women - because this strengthens our common struggle to achieve the final equality of all women and all girls which are now there, but also those that will come to us. " Andrijana Pisarevic is journalist and editor from Banjaluka. Her message is: "Although women are more visible in the media today than ever before, it's still not at a satisfactory level. However, progress over the last ten years has signals that journalists together can and must repair the current situation. It is up to us to continue breaking the stereotype of women in order to allow generations of emerging journalists to work in a more level-headed environment."

lako su žene danas vidljivije u medijima nego ikada prije, to i dalje nije ni blizu zadovoljavajućeg nivoa. Međutim, napredak u posljednjih desetak godina signalizuje da svi zajedno, novinarke i novinari, možemo i moramo popraviti postojeće stanje. Na nama je da nastavimo razbijati stereotipe o ženama kako bi generacijama novinarki koje tek stasavaju omogućili rad u ravnopravnijem okruženju.

The three of us are moving together and boldly in the fight for women's rights and greater visibility in the media"

Azra Mustedangic is journalists of FACE TV from Sarajevo. Her message is: "Media give women less social value, reducing them to their physical appearance, idealizing the attributes of female beauty. It is because of this real feminine value that professional success remains invisible to the general public. Women deserve equal opportunities and rights, just like men."

Azra Mustedanagić novinarka FACE TV

Mediji ženama daju sve manju društvenu vrijednost, svodeći ih na njihov fizički izgled, idealizirajući atribute ženske ljepote. Upravo zbog toga stvarne ženske vrijednosti, profesionalni uspjesi ostaju nevidljivi za širu javnost. Žene zaslužuju jednake šanse i prava, baš kao i muškarci.

"Nikada nismo imale veću potrebu i više prostora da se borimo za jednakost, da otkrivamo nepravdu i diskriminaciju koju preživljavaju žene u svim profesijama i svim sredinama. Međutim, da bismo se borile za tuđa prava prije svega moramo naučiti da se borimo za svoja, najglasnije što možemo!" Azra Berbic is journalist and NGO activist from Kakanj. She said: "We never had a greater need and more inclination to fight for equality, to find out the injustice and discrimination that women in all professions and all environments endure. However, in order to fight for others' rights, we must first learn to fight for our own, most vocal what can we do! "

Bojan Nosovic is a journalist of Alternative television from Trebinje. His message is: "For a good news story, the most important thing is to have good interviewees, but the fact is that men are more often in front of the camera. There are also women in Herzegovina who are professional and on function, but it seems to me that they themselves are not ready enough to stand in front of journalists. The team of ATV in Herzegovina in front of their camera will gladly host every woman."

Za dobru novinarsku prič najvažnije je imati dobra sagovorniko, ali činjenicu je do su pred komerom češće muškarci. Ne fali n Hercegouki kaje su stručne i na nekoj su funkciji ali mi se čini da same nisu dovoljno opremne do stanu pred novinaro. Nisu žene ni "slabiji", ni nježniji", ni "ljepši pol". Ne smije im se uskraćivati prilika da pokažu svoju snagu, znanje, sposobnosti i predanost radu, i da adekvatno budu nagradjene za svoj rad, priznate na radnom mjestu, u porodici i društvu u cjelini.

> Dika Bejdić novinarka u penziji Bihać

Dika Bejdic is retired journalist from Bihac. She said: "Women are not weaker, no softer or prettier sex. They should not be denied the opportunity to show their strength, knowledge, abilities and dedication to work, and to be adequately rewarded for their work, recognized in the workplace, in the family and society as a whole."

Elma Velic is a journalist of Radio Bosanska Krupa, and her message is: "Women need to support each other more, transfer knowledge and experience to younger generations, and to encourage and embarrass women in all fields to a greater extent. It must be the media that will promote equality, equity and human rights in the right way and give women enough space to counter stereotypes, stigmatization and prejudice."

podržavati, prenositi znanja i iskustva na mlađe generacije, i u većoj mjeri bodriti i isticati žene na svim poljima. Mediji moraju biti ti koji će jednakost, pravičnost i ljudska prava isticati na pravi način i ženama dati dovoljno prostora, kako bi se suzbili stereotipi. stigmatizacija i predrasude.

Elvir Padalovic is journalists of portal BUKA from Banjaluka. His message is: "It is very important for me to promote gender equality in my texts, as well as sensitive language. It's a way of showing that women and men are at least in our texts equal, because in the society in which we live it will be a long time to pass until we reach real equality, if we ever do. Although gender texts do not seem to change many things, every step in the fight for equality is counted."

Jako mi je važno da u svojim tekstovima promovišem rodnu ravnopravnost, kao i rodno osjetljiv jezik. To je način da pokažemo da su žene i muškarci bar u našim tekstovima ravnopravni, jer u društvu u kojem živimo još će dugo vremena proći dok dođemo do stvarne ravnopravnosti, ako ikad i dođemo. Iako se čini da rodno ravnopravni tekstovi ne mijenjaju mnogo stvari, u borbi za ravnopravnost svaki korak se računa.

Gorica Bukic is a director of Radio Una-Sana Canton from Bihac. She said: "No one has the right to abuse anyone, especially women. They are mothers, sisters, daughters. They are constant fighters for a better tomorrow. Women in the media are pressured and belittled, but persistent in the struggle to hear the voice of truth as far away as possible. Only together we can change the established stereotypes."

Niko nema pravo da zlostavlja bilo koga, pogotovo ne žene. One su majke, sestre, kćerke. Stalni su borci za bolje sutra. Žene u medijima su izložene pritisku i omalovažanju ali su istrajne u borbi da se glas istine čuje što dalje. Samo udružene možemo mijenjati ustaljene stereotipe.

> Gorica Bukić Radio USK Bihać

Jasmin Alibegovic is a journalist of daily newspaper "Dnevni avaz" from Sarajevo. His message is: "Traditional social attitudes are not justification for the lack of women in media coverage. They are here, around us, and they have achieved incredible success. Phenomenal, fantastic and successful, super women. The media should encourage conversations and propose specific activities that can promote equality and pluralism, thereby eradicating prejudice, stereotypes and end the gender discrimination in language and misrepresentation of women."

Jelena Marinkovic is a journalist of Radio Sokolac. She said: "By acting together, we need to raise awareness of gender equality, and the media play a special role in this. There are nine women in the small media center "Info Center" Sokolac, which has only ten employees. It is therefore not surprising that we often post stories about educated, accomplished, but also ordinary women. We must show equal respect to each of them."

Jesenko Krehic is an editor of Radio and Television of Bosnia and Herzegovina from Sarajevo. His message is: "At the beginning of my journalistic career, I thought that in the 21st century we would have no need to talk about breaking stereotypes about women or their low representation in media content. However, working on one show recently, despite trying to have an equal number of interviewees, I ended up working in a purely male company. So, fighting for greater visibility of women in the media and breaking stereotypes about them will be difficult and time consuming, as many women in politics and other fields are marginalized. They themselves need to be more active in imposing their values, and we journalists need to recognize it more and more promote that"

Lejla Turcilo is professor at the Faculty of Political Science from Sarajevo. She said: "As full and equal members of this society, we have a full right to be equally represented in the journalistic profession and in media content. Competent interlocutors, experts in their fields, who are indeed in BiH, are an invaluable resource for all media."

Kao punopravne i ravnopravne članice ovog društva, imamo puno pravo biti jednako zastupljene i u novinarskoj profesiji i u medijskim sadržajima. Kompetentne sagovornice, stručnjakinje u svojim oblastima, koji u BiH zaista ima, neprocijenjiv su resurs za sve medije.

> Prof. dr. Lejla Turčilo Fakultet političkih nauka Sarajevo

Pokazalo se da su Žene u novinarstvu i u najtežim vremenima, a i u današnjim izazovima uvijek čuvale i sačuvale obraz našoj profesiji. Upravo su novinarke te koje posljednjih godina doprinose rodnoj ravnopravnosti u medijskim sadržajima.

Maja Nikolic is a journalist of Federal News Agency (FENA) from Tuzla. Her message is: "It has proven that women in journalism and in the most difficult times, and in today's challenges, have always preserved the face of our profession. They are female journalists who have been contributing to gender equality in media content in recent years."

Milanka Kovacevic is a journalist of Direkt portal from Gacko. She said: "To say no to stereotypes today is a matter of ethics and education. A 21st century journalist is a female journalist!"

Sanela Kapetanovic is a journalist of Radio and Televison of Canton Sarajevo. Her message is: "Women's rights are human rights, so the fight against stereotyping, stigmatization and marginalization of women is not only professional but also civilization imperative. In this regard, the media should nurture an emancipator narrative of gender, age, race and equality in general. Respect for human rights is not a matter of choice but an indicator of a general literacy and civility."

M4W20.

Jaka, srećna i zadovoljna žena je osnova svakog zdravog društva i svi, uključujući i medije, treba da doprinesu izgradnji i takve žene i takvog društva. Mi, kao medijski profesionalci, imamo obavezu da doprinesemo rodnoj ravnopravnosti, rušeći stereotipe i predrasude o ženama. Istovremeno, moramo praviti razliku između priče o ravnopravnosti koja može dovesti do boljeg položaja za sve žene, bez obzira na status i godine, i priče o ravnopravnosti koja je sama sebi cilj.

Sasa Krsman is an editor of Republika Srpska News Agency from East Sarajevo. He said: "A strong, happy and satisfied woman is the foundation of every healthy society and everyone, including the media, should contribute to building such a woman and such a society. We, as media professionals, have an obligation to contribute to gender equality, breaking down stereotypes and prejudices about women. At the same time, we must distinguish between the story of equality that can lead to a better position for all women, regardless of status and age, and the story of equality, which is an end in itself."

Nasilje u porodice nije privatna stvar! Žena u BiH trpi. Ona nije ravnopravna. Ona mora prestati da bude tek "ljepša" polovica njega. Stanimo u kraj seksizmu u bh. medijima. Vratimo ženu u javni prostor, jer bosankohercegovačka žena to zaslužuje!

> Sudbin Musić aktivista Prijedor

Sudbin Music is an activist from Prijedor. His message is: "Domestic violence is not a private matter! A woman in BiH is suffering. She is not equal. She has to stop being just the "prettier half of him". Let's end sexism in the BiH media. Let's get the woman back in public space because the Bosnian woman deserves it!"

Velida Kulenovic is a journalist of Radio of Federation BiH. She said: "Women have the right on a life without violence, the right to choice, freedom of speech and opinion."

"Najteže se

osloboditi predrasuda i straha, a malo je žena koje su uspjele na taj način steći vlastitu slobodu. Mediji bi mogli i morali pomoći u tom procesu, jer je samo slobodna žena, oslobođena predrasuda i straha, sposobna izboriti se za ravnopravno mjesto u društvu."

> Vesna Begtašević novinarka Koniic

Vesna Begtasevic is a journalist from Konjic. Her message is: ""It is the most difficult to free oneself of prejudice and fear, and there are few women who have been able to gain their freedom in this way. The media could and should assist in this process, because only a free woman, free from prejudice and fear, is able to fight for an equal place in society. "

Nas žena ima više od 50% i sigurno ne želimo da buđemo objekti međijske industrije zabave, jeftinog populizma i senzacionalizma! Tražimo da se odgovorno izveštava o kršenju naših prava, i da se prestane sa međijskim

Prof. dr. sc. Zlatiborka Popov Momčinović Filozofski fakultet Pale Zlatiborka Popov Momcinovic is proffesour of Faculty of Philosophy from East Sarajevo. She said: "Woman is over 50% and we certainly do not want to be the objects of the media entertainment industry, cheap populism and sensationalism! We demand that the violation of our rights be reported responsibly, and to stop the media gloom when it comes to our achievements"

Zvonko Komsic is a journalist of N1 Bosnia and Herzegovina. His message is: "While working as a journalist, I have recorded many stories about successful women in the fields of economics, social engagement, the arts, sports... Unfortunately, there is many women who go through torture, violence... It is through responsible reporting that we should encourage them to step out of the circle of violence. The role of the media in this is crucial, because they form the image of a woman in public space that will be embraced by the younger generations. "
